

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of processing radiological images for diagnostic purposes involves the automated registration and comparison of images obtained at different times. A variation on the method may also use computer-aided detection (CAD) in conjunction with image parameters obtained during the process of registration to register CAD results.

DC2-512072